Shopper tackles jewel heist suspect

- At least 20 witnesses helped RCMP
- Alleged robbers were located and arrested within 24 hours
- More than $200,000 worth of jewelry was stolen

Bodychecking a robbery suspect was not on Ashley Russell-Taylor's to-do list last Thursday morning, but when a man came barrelling toward him out of the Capilano Mall People's Jewellers, that's just what he did.

Russell was having tea at about 10:30 a.m. in the mall with his infant daughter when he heard cries for security. He passed the child to a friend who worked near the jewelry store and went to investigate.

"It was kind of a faceoff between myself and the individual who was running," said Russell-Taylor. After he took the suspect to the ground, other pursuers quickly pinned the man down and held him until police arrived.

Three others escaped but were arrested later.

"I didn't see a weapon and figured (the suspect) would have used it already."
ASHLEY RUSSELL-TAYLOR

"It's pretty compelling to see how many people worked together to stop this (robbery) from happening," said RCMP Cpl. Peter DeVries. "Without their help this case would have been extremely difficult to solve.

"That being said, we recommend that people don't become involved in crimes, because there is a high risk of personal injury."

Mall patrons were uninjured, despite pepper spray being discharged during the attempted robbery. ● STEPHANIE ORFORD

Taylor made grade for SFU job

Former B.C. finance minister Carole Taylor sees her role as the newly appointed chancellor of Simon Fraser University as a key link between the knowledge and energy generated by the university and the wider community.

"The big mistake that some universities make is that they do all the learning in the Ivory Tower," said Taylor.

"Take those ideas. Be part of the public debate. Influence policy. Be part of the conversation that goes on as we all try to make our community a better place."

Taylor, whose name has been bandied as a possible successor to Premier Gordon Campbell, said she has enjoyed her time in municipal and provincial politics, but is not a career politician and has no intention of re-entering the fray.

Taylor holds an honorary doctors of law degree from SFU (one of her four honorary degrees). Interestingly, she said she had never met SFU president Andrew Petter — also a former B.C. finance minister — until he contacted her about the position.

Her renewable three-year term begins in June.

Some ripping Rypien over Wild fan grab

League suspends Canucks centre indefinitely ◐ Will meet with NHL disciplinarian to explain actions

Vancouver hockey fans are torn when it comes to defining Rick Rypien's future after the Canucks centre tousled a Minnesota Wild fan during Tuesday night's game in St. Paul.

"He should be tossed out," said Canucks fan Taylor Moore. "I don't want that sort of behaviour to be a role model for my son."

With the Canucks down 5-1, Rypien grabbed and shook a jeering Minnesota fan as he headed to the dressing room for a double-minor penalty and a 10-minute misconduct for roughing.

"I don't understand what's the big deal," said Jazmine Grewal of Vancouver. "He was in the heat of the moment, of playing the game, and if the other guy wasn't actually hurt, (Rypien) shouldn't be punished."

The NHL is not expected to comment until the matter has been resolved.

Homers?

Announcers called the incident differently in Vancouver and Minnesota:

- "Where's the security there? You can't have the fans reaching over. You paid for tickets to watch the game, not be part of the game. That guy's gotta go," said John Garrett on Rogers Sportsnet.
- "Oh, he's got the fans now! Wow, that's probably going to be suspendable right there. When you start mixing it up with the fans, that's when it's going to get ugly," said a Minnesota announcer.

High-speed rail to Washington right on track

Announcement comes following fifth annual B.C.–Washington state joint cabinet meeting

JEFF HODSON
@METRONEWS.CA

The leaders of B.C. and Washington state pledged yesterday to forge ahead with a high-speed rail link between Vancouver and Seattle.

Premier Gordon Campbell, who joked that he'd like Washington state to pay for the entire project, said the province plans to work with the federal government to improve the track, right of way and crossings.

He said it would require a "significant investment," but offered few specifics on costs and timelines.

DARRYL DYCK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Gov. Christine Gregoire and Premier Gordon Campbell

"Ultimately," said Washington Gov. Christine Gregoire, "with the national agenda of President Obama, we hope it will go, not just Vancouver to Portland, but on to California."

Washington received $590 million from the U.S. federal government to connect Seattle to Portland with trains capable of averaging 180 km/h. Part of that money will be used in preparation of a Seattle and Vancouver connection.

"It would take literally thousands and thousands of cars off the road," Campbell said. "Instead of spending people's time in border lineups in their cars, they'll be able to have a good time visiting Seattle or Washington state."

It is estimated that a second Amtrak train between Vancouver and Seattle would add $11 million to the B.C. economy.

Kitten on the mend after pellet shooting

A six-month-old kitten is recovering after being shot with a pellet gun at its North Vancouver home.

Ian Steward noticed Bailey was hurt after it had been outside on Tuesday. A vet exam found Bailey had been shot and needed surgery.

"Being cruel to animals is not only morally reprehensible, it's also against the law," said RCMP Cpl. Peter DeVries. Mounties are investigating.

WINNING GOLD IN DELHI

"IT WAS THE BEST MOMENT OF MY LIFE"

Arjan Bhullar, 24, won gold for Canada in men's freestyle wrestling at the Commonwealth Games.

How do you feel about your win? It was spectacular. I've been dreaming about winning a medal like that for a long time. I wrestled one of the hometown favourites. He's actually from Delhi.

What was it like to compete in your parents' country of origin? Very exciting. I had a lot of family and friends show up. My father used to compete (in India) and I used to go and watch him and people following him around like he was a rock star.

You're a former SFU Clan wrestler; did you feel you were representing them? Yeah. Once a Clansman, always a Clansman. I feel that whatever success I have now, it started with the SFU team. This country's got so much opportunity that if you make the most of it, you can become successful, and I'm proof of that.

Victims of ambulance crash longtime medics

The paramedics killed when their ambulance plunged into a lake on Vancouver Island have been identified as two Tofino residents, one of whom was recently widowed and preparing to retire.

Ivan Polivka, 65, and Joann Fuller, 59, were killed early Tuesday after their vehicle went off Highway 4 and down a steep cliff into Kennedy Lake between Tofino and Port Alberni.

Polivka had worked with the service for 14 years and was widowed last year when his wife died of cancer. Fuller, a 23-year veteran, was married to a local school district official.

Chimp champ Goodall talks environmentalism

Renowned primatologist spoke to high school students at Telus World Of Science yesterday

KRISTEN THOMPSON
@METRONEWS.CA

She's been studying chimpanzees for 50 years, but Jane Goodall said her job never gets old.

"You're always learning new things (from) chimps," the 67-year-old primatologist and UN Messenger of Peace told Metro Vancouver yesterday.

"(They) can live to be over 60. If you imagine studying a village of people you wouldn't learn all there was in 60 years. Each chimp is different. We've just had the opportunity to study adult twins (for the first time)."

Goodall said she's learned over the decades that to protect chimpanzees and their habitat, we have to improve the lives of the people who live nearby.

"Everything is interconnected," she said. "Flying over this national park, all around it is poverty and bare hills that were once forests," she said.

"When I look at small children I think how we've handled this planet since I was their age and I feel a sense of desperation. We haven't inherited this planet from our parents, we've borrowed it from our children."

Jane Goodall first visited Gombe National Park in Tanzania — where she studied chimpanzees — 50 years ago.

Col. Williams is 'pure evil,' says victim's brother

Family applauds after Andy Lloyd's speech to court

Col. Russell Williams is being described as "evil, pure evil."

Those words are from Andy Lloyd, whose sister Jessica was raped and murdered by Williams.

In delivering his victim impact statement to a Belleville, Ont., courtroom, Lloyd said his father — who spent 25 years in the navy — would have been "mortified" to learn that his daughter's killer was a military commander.

Lloyd's father died of cancer when she was 14, some 13 years before Williams took the woman captive, raped her repeatedly and murdered her earlier this year.

The whole side of the courtroom where the family sat broke out in applause after Andy Lloyd left the witness stand.

Apology

In a handwritten letter penned just after confessing his crimes to police, Williams apologized to Lloyd's mother.
Williams wrote that Lloyd loved her mother very much, adding he knows because she "told me so again and again."

Williams has been convicted of two counts of first-degree murder in the killings of Lloyd, 27, and Cpl. Marie-France Comeau, 37, and dozens of other charges, including sexual assaults.

Police formed a human barrier between Williams and Lloyd's loved ones as they came forward to deliver victim impact statements. Many refused to take the chair provided for them, instead standing and facing Williams directly.

Two even challenged Williams to lift his bowed head and look at them — which he did, eliciting a gasp from those in court.

One woman, Lisa, who described herself as Lloyd's best friend, said Williams' monstrous acts caused her to question her faith in the military and God.

"I hope he rots," said another friend of Lloyd's.

U.S. to sell weapons to Saudis

Plans to sell up to $60 billion in advanced weaponry to counter Iran

The Obama administration notified Congress yesterday that it plans to sell up to $60 billion in advanced weaponry to Saudi Arabia in one of the largest-ever single U.S. arms sales, a deal intended to counter the rising influence of Iran.

The sale, first revealed in September, is designed to strengthen the defence forces of Saudi Arabia, a longtime U.S. ally, and counter Iran as a regional power in the Persian Gulf.

"This proposed sale has tremendous significance from a strategic regional perspective," said the assistant secretary of state for political and military affairs who announced the deal. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Significant threat

Congress has 30 days to block the deal, but the officials said they did not expect significant opposition despite concerns by some lawmakers about the impact the sales might have on Israel's security.

- Israeli officials have said previously that they were not pleased with the proposed sales but would not try to prevent them.
- Iran is seen by Israel, the Gulf Arab states and the West as an unpredictable threat that has changed the old calculus of the region's balance of power.

Humour used as hoist in rescue

Minutes after a team of rescuers hoisted 33 miners to safety, President Sebastian Pinera hugged the men and gave them a thanks very much a la Chilena — one with a punchline.

Pinera told the rescuers in Spanish he wanted them to be the ones "who rescue us all on Judgment Day."

The rescuers, who had pulled off a harrowing, first-of-a-kind operation to pluck the miners from a depth of 500 metres, cracked up. It may have seemed a strange moment for a joke to a foreigner, but humour is all but the unofficial national sport in Chile. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Economy trails U.S. in third quarter

Canada likely had worst quarter since the recession ● But head of Bank of Canada says he's not worried

The Canadian economy likely suffered the worst quarter since the recession during the summer months and still faces risks ranging from a global currency war to a collapse in the housing market, the Bank of Canada said yesterday.

The bank's latest quarterly outlook estimates the Canadian economy advanced at a snail's pace — 1.6 per cent — during the third quarter, following gains of two per cent in the second quarter and 5.8 per cent in the first quarter.

That's even slower than the troubled United States, which likely advanced by 2.3 per cent in the July-September months.

But the head of Canada's central bank said he's not overly concerned about slow summer growth or comparisons with the U.S., which he said is in far weaker shape and has farther to go to return to pre-recession levels.

"I wouldn't obsess about the third quarter," Bank of Canada governor Mark Carney told reporters in a briefing.

Canada's employment has returned to pre-recession levels, while the U.S. still has 20 per cent fewer people working than before the downturn, he said.

Brits forced to tighten their belts

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, George Osborne, said yesterday the country's government will make the largest cuts to public spending since the Second World War — slashing benefits and public sector jobs in a five-year austerity plan.

Osborne confirmed he had ordered $134 billion in spending cuts through 2015, which he claims are necessary along with tax increases to wipe out a spending deficit that reached $253 billion last year. As many as 500,000 public sector jobs will be lost, welfare payments sharply reduced and dozens of scheduled government programs halted.

He said that even the Queen would take a hit, cutting her royal household budget by 14 per cent over four years under the plans.

After spending billions bailing out indebted banks, and suffering a squeeze on tax revenue and a hike in welfare bills, he said it would take "time to turn around the debt supertanker." Osborne said that a temporary levy on bank balance sheets being introduced in January will be made permanent, potentially raising billions of dollars.

"We will extract the maximum sustainable taxes from the banking system," he said.

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, George Osborne, said yesterday the country's government will make the largest cuts to public spending since the Second World War — slashing benefits and public-sector jobs in a five-year austerity plan.

Osborne confirmed he had ordered $134 billion in spending cuts through 2015, which he claims are necessary along with tax increases to wipe out a spending deficit that reached $253 billion last year.

He said that even the Queen would take a hit, cutting her royal household budget by 14 per cent over four years under the plans.

"It is a hard road, but it leads to a better future," Osborne told legislators in a long-anticipated statement to outline the coalition government's long-term economic plans.

After spending billions bailing out indebted banks, and suffering a squeeze on tax revenue and a hike in welfare bills, he said it would take "time to turn around the debt supertanker."

Osborne said that a temporary levy on bank balance sheets being introduced in January will be made permanent, potentially raising billions of dollars.

"We will extract the maximum sustainable taxes from the banking system," he said.

Osborne said the cuts would fall in almost all areas of government spending. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PARENTS CAN BE FACEBOOK FRIENDS

He says ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE

I'm in a relationship with my parents and it's complicated.

There comes a time in the lives of all children when they must deal with a delicate question about their parents: Confirm, or Ignore? My parents sat in Facebook limbo for years, the two-headed profile "MargieBob" stuck on my page like the bad guys from Superman II trapped in the 2-D prison.

But recently I decided that my real-life friendship with my parents must be worth a virtual friendship.

I decided that when people look back on their lives, they regret what they didn't do, not what they've done.

And I decided that I needed a column topic.

So I accepted their request and Facebook announced to the world that, after 34 years, I am now friends with my parents.

So far, so good. They haven't done anything embarrassing yet, like posting naked baby pictures of me on my wall, or showing up in Yoville trying to be cool.

I did have to label one video NSFMP (Not Safe For My Parents), but that's it so far.

In reality, my parents were never what was holding me back. I was embarrassed about my "friends."

"Family members, friends, fools, and frenemies, they're all 'friends' now."

It's a familiar story for me. When I was in my early teens, my dad once asked if I wanted to play tennis with him. I said yes, but then I saw my "friends" were at the court. Their idea of a good time was getting the best loogie built up by smoking cigarettes and eating Oreos.

I was in the suburbs of a small city. Friendship was geography.

So I told my dad I didn't want to play because my friends were there and — children don't forget this stuff — Dad got choked up.

Now, 20 years later, geography is no boundary to friendship. Nor, as any computer user knows, does actual friendship bear any relation to Facebook friendship.

But to hell with it. Family members, friends, fools, and frenemies, they're all "friends" now. Those Seinfeld episodes where Jerry or George worry about "the two worlds" colliding seem hopelessly out of date. We're all in the same world now.

I'm happy to have Mom and Dad in that group.

Amidst all the self-promotion, self-flagellation, and self-love in the status updates, my parents are the rarest of Facebook users: They're happy.

"Ain't life grand!" was a recent update. In future, MargieBob, I'd appreciate an NSFC (Not Safe For Cynics). Thanks.

Cold nixes fashion sense

Letters & Tweets

We asked: How early is too early for a toque?

TORONTO. There's no such thing as "too early." If you're cold, worry less about being seasonally appropriate and just put one on. If people would accept this simple solution, we'd have less unpleasant scenes like the one I overheard in a gas station the other day, with an older man in a lightweight windbreaker screaming at an overworked cashier who was operating two registers and dealing with multiple customers for not ringing up his gas fast enough because it was cold outside.

To Angry Windbreaker Man: A toque would cost you less money than you spent on gas and unlike your car would probably make you a bit less loathesome.

KATHY BIBSON

@kelstabulous it is never too early for a touque.

@deadlytoque I had frostbite on my ears 12 years ago, & they never recovered.

I wear a toque whenever the temp goes under 10, or they hurt.

TORONTO There's no such thing as too early for a toque, in my opinion. They're cute and stylish, especially those well-designed ones. Fall, winter, spring. Why not?

Longoria's perfume about confidence

HEATHER BUCHAN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

She shot to stardom six years ago when the hit TV show Desperate Housewives — in which she plays the hilariously vain and materialistic Gabrielle Solis — first premiered, and Eva Longoria Parker hasn't looked back since.

Aside from acting, Longoria Parker has ventured into producing and directing, serves as the international spokesperson for L'Oreal Paris and is actively involved in numerous charities.

Her most recent endeavor, a year in the making, is the creation of her signature fragrance Eva by Eva Longoria.

While in Toronto recently to launch her eponymous perfume, the 35-year-old beauty sat down with Metro to chat about how the scent came about, what the future holds for her and the importance of giving back.

Why did you create this fragrance?

I was always allergic to perfume and could never wear it.

I always felt they were too overpowering and I just wanted something that was easy to wear — something light and fresh and clean. I wanted to create a scent for myself. Then I found out that a lot of women felt that way.

What do you hope to offer women with your perfume?

I hope that they wear it and they feel sexy and confident. I find if you smell good, you carry yourself in a different way. Scent is an intense emotional connection.

What do you find most gratifying about your role on Desperate Housewives?

I love that it was a groundbreaking show with four female leads — three over 40 — dealing with universal themes of the modern woman: Marriage, divorce, dating, children.

You are involved in a lot of charities. Was being charitably active something that was instilled in your by your parents?

Yes, I have a special needs sister. That's why I created Eva's Heroes (in San Antonia, Texas). Early on I was introduced to volunteerism from my mom and aunts.

That was a big thing in my family, to always give back. I thought that was the way everybody was.

Girl power: Flirty, feminine, romantic looks rule runway during LG Fashion Week

From Canada's Catwalk

LG Fashion Week sets the standard for the styles that will ripple throughout the country

From Blue Lagoon to a '70s vibe, intricate knitweat to flirty and feminine, LG Fashion Week unveils a runway mix

1 PINK TARTAN

Pink Tartan put a groovy spin on its classic glamorous looks in a new spring-summer collection channelling retro-era sophistication and a '70s vibe.

The latest offerings from designer Kimberley Newport-Mimran evoked a laid-black glam, notably in the form of lush, fluid dresses.

Caftan-style, one-shoulder striped creations fastened with a gold buckle rippled effortlessly as models walked down the runway, as did a succession of pocketed, free-flowing numbers, mostly halter-style, with plunging necklines.

Wardrobe separates appeared comfortable and easy to wear.

Floor-skimming, cigarette-slim flared pants reminiscent of bell-bottoms and strapless jumpsuits lent a contemporary touch to classic looks of the disco era, as did wide lapels framing slinky blouses and jackets.

2 ANGELA CHEN

With images of crashing waves projected onto a big screen, Angela Chen captured the dreaminess of the sand and surf with her island-inspired collection. Inspired by The Blue Lagoon and its then up-and-coming star, Brooke Shields, the designer revealed a series of ethereal, romantic separates under her retitled Or label.

There was playfulness and delicacy in the collection, which featured mostly free-form, fluid pieces amid more body-hugging creations.

Slender-cut keyhole-cutout tanks, pencil skirts and cigarette-slim pants with draped pockets transitioned effortlessly to more loose-fitting designs. Slinky shortall spaghetti-strap jumpsuits and strapless sweetheart or floor-skimming pocketed maxi dresses were among the looks.

3 LINE

Design duo John Muscat and Jennifer Wells served up a sensual showcase of knitwear and slinky separates from their label Line

Rather than the cozy cardigans and chunky vests often associated with knitted creations,

Line's body-hugging tops are laden with sex appeal and typically contrasted with looser-fitting bottoms. The collection has a mostly neutral colour palette with infusions of burnt orange, dusty rose, peach, pale pink and olive hues.

4 LOVAS

For ladies looking for the go-to new number to take them on the cocktail circuit or to a more casual shindig, flirty, feminine party frocks were in full force in the latest looks featured by Lovas.

The spring/summer collection from designer Wesley Badanjak boasted a wide range of stylish frocks steeped in rich hues, including fuchsia and lemon yellow alongside charcoal and silver.

Whether it was a strapless or spaghetti-style number, tiered mini or a one-shouldered, asymmetrical jersey creation, the collection offered a wide breadth of mostly body-conscious dresses.

Frocks with ruffled collars and gingham-patterned designs offered a playful contrast to more sophisticated offerings, like shimmering silver sequined creations accented by a sheer chiffon sash.

Striking a balance between work, home

Your home office should be both efficient and attractive

DECOR MOMENT

KARL LOHNES
HOME@METRONEWS.CA

Whether it's a dedicated room to run a full-time business or simply a small desk in the corner of a bedroom to pay bills; almost everyone has some form of work space within their home these days. What's important is that the space works efficiently for your work needs and that it blends with your home's decor. Here's a few tips and ideas that will help you set up a work space that efficient, yet attractive:

Space needed: If you are a writer or computer gaming wizard then perhaps a comfortable chair and a laptop located in an airy space will work best. If you are a life coach then a separate bedroom-turned-office may fit the bill.

Its all in the timing: If you do your best work late at night, then keep a home office set up away from your bedroom and living room where you might be tempted to work in your bed or curled up on the sofa with the television on. The dining room, stairwell landing or attic are great areas that are removed from the comfort areas and will help to keep you focused.

Storage: Will a two-drawer file cabinet help to keep your paper trail at bay or do you need shelving and cabinets for art supplies and samples? Consider using everyday home items to help kep your supplies hidden away; an ottoman or bench seat with storage or the bottom storage of a china cabinet are great hiding spots. I once slip-covered a filing cabinet with beautiful fabric and added a glass top; it acted as an elegant night table in my bedroom and nobody ever knew.

home visit

Do you invite clients into your home?

- Keep an attractive, clutter entrance; a mat for boots, a holder for umbrellas, a decorative hook for coats and an area for brief cases and bags will suffice.
- Consider using your dining room table as a conference table.
- Don't invite work clients into your kitchen, family room or bedrooms; they are not conducive to a professional environment and clients can become distracted or uncomfortable.
- Consider using the party room or meeting facility in your condo or apartment building. They are often unused and will create a less cluttered, less personal environment to entertain clients.

Making an entrance

HOMES IN STYLE

HEATHER BUCHAN
HOME@METRONEWS.CA

An entryway is the gateway to your home; the very first place your guests — you and your guests — see after walking through the front door. So don't make your front foyer an afterthought.

"First impressions are important," says Cobi Ladner, leading Canadian lifestyle authority and creator of cobistyle.com, adding that it doesn't take much to create an inviting entryway that's big on style and practical too.

Because foyers are generally smaller spaces, decorating them is often more about the walls and lighting than furnishings, explains Ladner.

"I encourage people to be a bit playful with their entryways when it comes to the colour scheme," says Ladner. "It's a fun place to try something you may not want in a larger space."

For those who want to make a bold statement, but aren't sure how to in such a small space, Ladner recommends choosing dramatic overhead lighting. "Opt for something really different or oversized, like a big lantern, starburst or chandelier."

One item Ladner cautions against is a coat tree. "They often look good in the store, but when they're filled, they look messy," she says.

Cobi Ladner's top five entryway must-haves:

1. A beautiful, durable doormat. "Something guests aren't afraid to stand on in wet boots."

2. Adjustable lighting. "Put your overhead light on a dimmer and it will be the best investment you make to your entryway."

3. A mirror. "I know I need one before I dash out the door."

4. An umbrella stand. "Practical and always looks great."

5. A personal touch. "Whether it's a painting, a wreath or a bowl, display something that shows who you are."

Fall good time to check furnace

The old adage "if it isn't broken, don't fix it" does not apply when it comes to your household heating system. Like a car, your furnace is a running machine that needs regular tune-ups to ensure its efficiency and longevity.

A clean, well-adjusted heating system will save you money on fuel and will prolong furnace life. The cost of annual servicing is modest, especially when compared with the price of a new furnace.

There is some maintenance that homeowners can undertake themselves, such as the cleaning and replacing of filters. To ensure safe and efficient operation of a heating system, however, homeowners should have their furnace inspected and cleaned annually by a qualified technician.

Homeowners searching for a qualified heating contractor in their area can access a user-friendly website, hrai.ca or call toll-free at 1-877-467-HRAI.

The website lists contractor members of the Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Institute of Canada (HRAI), a national trade association. Inspections performed by a licensed technician should include the following:

- A safety test for carbon monoxide (CO)
- Checking for hazardous debris in the chimney and flue
- Cleaning of air filters and re-installing
- Checking operation of thermostat and safety controls
- Checking gas pilot safety system and cleaning as required
- Cleaning the motor and fan
- Checking the blower operation NEWS CANADA

Ready to get down with KFC's Double Down?

JOAN CHANG/FOR METRO VANCOUVER

▶ The KFC Original Recipe Double Down

There's little bacon to be found, but you'll get your fill of salt

LUNCH RUSH

JOAN CHANG
FOOD@METRONEWS.CA

Blame my editor. With the Double Down finally hitting Canada, I too had to try this fatty breadless sensation.

Here are the facts: for $6.99 you get one Original Recipe Double Down that contains 540 calories, 32 grams of fat and 1,380 milligrams of sodium.

The layer of breading on the chicken was quite light. There's also actual white chicken meat underneath that outer coating.

That's good news because it's pretty much all chicken. There's little bacon to be found and the processed cheese tends to gob around the edges.

What you'll actually taste is salt. I love salt, but each bite literally sent me reeling. Having said all that, it's not the worst thing I've ever eaten. The KFC I went to was sold out before noon, so people are in fact eating it.

But would I eat it again? With the salt-induced headache I have, no. At least go with some friends so you can share the experience, not to mention the calories. Why suffer high blood pressure alone?

Spook-tacular treats

Pumpkin Cupcakes Preparation:

These spicy morsels will be the hit of your Halloween party. To save time, use purchased frosting in place of homemade. You'll find everything you need to make spook-tacular decorated cupcakes for Halloween, such as candies and sprinkles, at your local bulk food store.

1. In a large bowl, using an electric mixer, beat together butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in egg, pumpkin, milk and vanilla.
2. In a small bowl, whisk together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, baking soda, ginger, nutmeg, cloves and salt. Add to pumpkin mixture, beating until smooth.
3. Spoon into paper-lined or greased muffin cups, filling 3/4 full. Bake in a 180 C (350 F) oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until top feels firm and toothpick inserted into centre comes out clean. Let cool completely on rack. Frost and decorate as desired. Makes 12 cupcakes.
4. To make your own frosting, beat 1/2 cup butter or shortening, 4 tsp lukewarm water and 1 tsp vanilla with an electric mixer until smooth. Gradually beat in 2 cups of icing sugar. Add food colouring as desired. Pipe or spread onto cupcakes.

Canucks fall in shootout

All 3 Chicago shooters score on Luongo as Blackhawks edge Canucks in tiebreaker ◗ Vancouver outshot Chicago 37-32, including 8-2 margin in OT

CHICAGO	VANCOUVER
2	1

Jonathan Toews, Patrick Sharp and Patrick Kane scored in the first three rounds of a shootout to give Chicago a 2-1 victory over Vancouver last night, extending the Stanley Cup champion Blackhawks' winning streak to four games.

Kane scored on a backhander in the third round, sending the puck between Roberto Luongo's legs.

Vancouver's Mikael Samuelsson then sent a backhand attempt wide.

Samuelsson was the only shooter to miss. Daniel Sedin and Ryan Kesler converted for Vancouver (2-3-2) in the first two rounds. Sedin and Chicago's Viktor Stalberg scored in regulation.

Sedin tied the game a minute into the third period. Skating in from the left side, he fired a shot past the sprawled Marty Turco after the goalie stopped defenceman Christian Ehrhoff from the right crease.

Stalberg scored with 37.7 seconds left in the first period, wristing a shot over Luongo's left shoulder from 15 feet in the right slot after taking a feed from Jake Dowell. Chicago, which won only one of its first four games, improved to 5-2-1. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Improving Lulay key to Lions' hopes

STAMPEDERS

LIONS

▶ Time: 7 p.m. Friday
Channel: TSN

Quarterback Travis Lulay is learning from his mistakes, something his B.C. Lions teammates must do to make the CFL playoffs.

The Lions face the 11-4 Stampeders in Calgary tomorrow after two consecutive error-filled overtime losses that put their season on the brink.

But Lulay, now The Guy after No. 1 pivot Casey Printers was released, has brought composure to the huddle after missing reads and throwing interceptions earlier in the season.

"I've improved on some of those things but it's not like I'm saying I'm a finished product," the 27-year-old Montana State product said after yesterday's practice.

"It's a continual progression but I do feel it's getting better and I feel more comfortable every week."

The Lions and Edmonton Eskimos are both 5-10 and tied for the final West Division playoff berth with three games remaining.

The Eskimos are in the driver's seat because last week's 31-28 overtime victory gave them the season series against B.C.

Lulay took control of the Lions' offence four weeks ago when Printers was benched because of too many turnovers. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 You may try to hide the truth from the world today but it's highly unlikely you will succeed. You will do or say something that lets the cat out of the bag.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 Why do you feel you have something to prove? Whatever the reason you'll go out of your way over the next 24 hours to convince people to take you seriously. Don't push too hard though or they may dislike you.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 You may feel superior to most other people, and no doubt with good reason, but don't make an issue of it or you will turn them off — worse, they may turn against you. Not everyone can be a Gemini.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Steer clear of issues that do not really concern you. The planets warn you are liable to misjudge things quite badly, which won't do much for your reputation.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 You are very close to making a success of something you nearly gave up on just a short time ago. Stick with it a little bit longer and you will be able to celebrate a remarkable success.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 The right mental attitude always attracts the right opportunities, both in your personal life and in your work and business affairs, so strive to stay positive and expect good things to come your way — and they will.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 Others will talk you up and make you out to be something you are not today. It's nice to be flattered but you know it could backfire on you if you fail to live up to expectations.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 You can make even the most difficult tasks look easy, but don't get carried away and claim you can do things that are way beyond your powers. Someone is likely to call your bluff.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Some people you know you can trust and some people you have your doubts about but you are advised to keep those doubts to yourself today or you could end up offending someone important.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Everything seems to be going well for you now but don't fall into the trap of thinking that you can ease off a bit. You must remain focused on your goal.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Short-term changes may be painful but in the long-term they will pay for themselves many times over, and if you keep that thought in mind you will find disruptions and upheavals much easier to deal with.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 The odds against you may seem overwhelming but you'll find a way to win the game. Passion is the key.
